Socrates is unlike any other management system. It is regulatory driven, not task driven.

It operates proactively, not just reactively. And best of all, it is tightly integrated with our regulatory change management system.

Socrates is economical to use and support. It has no upfront fees; just simple per user pricing. As a hosted solution, it has little to no IT impact.

Socrates is easy to use and even easier to administer. Its self-administration feature adds licensed users as soon as they create a user profile. Users become productive with minimal training. Even the casual user will find the intuitive interface easy to navigate.

Socrates offers users:

- Ease of use and is easy to administer
- A regulatory driven system, unlike others
- Help with ISO Standards compliance
- Automatic change monitoring
- Economical per user pricing with no upfront fees

Do you need Socrates?

Compliance starts with identifying your regulatory profile, builds with monitoring changes, and comes full circle to manage their impact on current and planned activities.

How can you make this happen? One word: Socrates.

Socrates makes managing compliance issues straightforward with:

- An intuitive user interface
- Integration with the regulations and audit protocols
- Multiple built-in change notification systems
- Summaries of monitored tasks and projects in a personalized dashboard that features an easy-to-read status bar
- The ability to create a task or project directly from within the changing regulation
- The ability to monitor corrective action with the Corrective Action Tracking System (CATS) module
- The ability to generate task lists from audit profiles created with Audit Applicability
